

1. What is a Cookie? Cookies are small text files saved to your computer or mobile device through your browser when you visit a website. Cookies enable the website to operate more efficiently, speed up performance, and improve your overall experience during subsequent visits.

2. Which Cookies Are Used on Our Website? Only limited cookies are used on parflux.com for the purpose of fulfilling the basic functions of the website and analyzing user traffic:

- Essential Cookies: These are technical cookies required for the website to function correctly and for security forms (such as captcha, etc.) to operate in a stable manner.
- Analytical and Performance Cookies (Google Tag Manager / Analytics): These cookies collect completely anonymous (unnamed) statistical data that helps us understand how visitors use the website and which pages they review. This data cannot be used to identify your identity.

3. How Can You Control or Delete Cookies? If you do not wish cookies to be used, you can disable, block, or delete previously saved cookies through your browser settings.

- Google Chrome: Settings > Privacy and Security > Cookies and Other Site Data
- Safari: Preferences > Privacy > Block Cookies and Website Data

Please note that if you completely disable cookies, some forms or features on parflux.com may not function flawlessly.